Hawaii Community College is pleased to present:

The iPod Loning Program

Are you struggling in your college-level coursework?

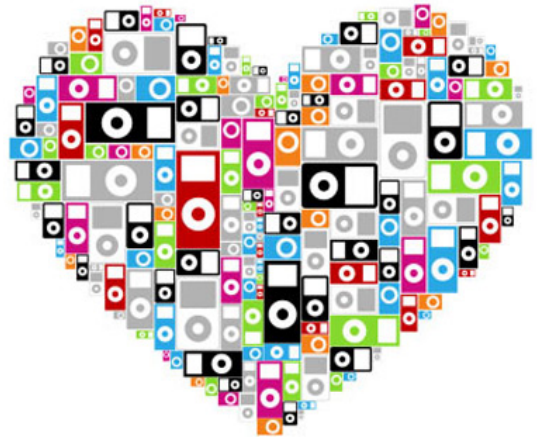

Announcing a new program specifically for non-native speakers of English. The iPod Loning Program offers students the opportunity to borrow an iPod for one semester.

In addition, a micromemo will be included, allowing you to record and playback lectures, interviews or your own presentations!

You will also receive support from college instructors on podcasts that will best help you based on what you want to improve, your major, and your personal interests. A personalized playlist can be created for you and downloaded to your iPod at your convenience.

This is a great opportunity to gain additional practice in listening and communicating which can help you not only in your classes now, but also with your job in the future.

To request an application, email Steven Clements at stevencc@hawaii.edu

iPods are limited, so apply today!

The iPod Loning Program is funded through the Perkins Initiative.
